

MIIA FALL CONFERENCE LESSONS LEARNED FROM LAST WINTER

The winter of 2014-15 was not only an historic event, but it tested the resources of city and town officials state wide. As with any catastrophic event, there are lessons to be learned. Join us on September 15th as those who were "in the trenches" discuss last winter's impact on municipalities from a public safety, budgetary and management perspective. We will talk about what worked and what didn't and brainstorm solutions so that we can ensure whatever this winter brings, we will be better prepared!
